New York Stock Market

New York, November 11.—Prices of stocks were lifted rapidly to-day, and the market showed a pronounced reversal from the heaviness of the first half of the week. The more confident tone which was apparent yesterday continued to exert its influence. The buying movement to-day was broader and more aggressive, and gains were registered in every section of the market Union Pacific, Reading, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper and Americain Smelting rose three points. Fine advances were scored for the most part during the morning. Later in the day trading became quieter and profit taking before the close reduced the gains of the speculative issues.

Trading was so largely professional that the hearing of outside influences was questionable. While trading was at its beaviest and United States Steel, Reading and Union Pacific were being bought in lots of several thousand shares there were indications of distress among the bears, and buying from that quarter undoubtedly strengthened the list temperarity.

Ex-President Reesevelt's utterances enthe trust situation also were referred to as having stimulated the market. His remarks concerning the government's suit against the United States Steel Corporation in particular were noted on account of the present of the profit of the day, was distingted fraction of the day, was sufficially assumed the profit of the day, was sufficially in the corporation in particular were noted on account of the present large of the day, was expected in a small fraction or its blown the discount of the profit of the profit of the particular solution soft was an approach. The outward movement of commendation and solution soft was an approach the special other products exported showed decreases, alternative amount of several month of 100. The amount of several other products exported showed decreases, including Amalgamated Copper, alternative and other products and and provided coppers. The lond market was generally firm. The lond market was generally firm. The lond market was generally firm.

Last Day's Races,

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Lancaster. Va., November 17.—

Bright skies and pleasant weather marked the third and finnl day of the Chesapeake Agricultural Fair, near kilmarnock, but the rauddy roads kept the crowd from being as large as it exually is on the closing day. There was no racing in the morning, but in the afternoon there was a spirited and hotly contested trotting race for the 2:30 class, in which Wilkinson's Miss Johnson, Hogge's Winnie D. and Dison's Baron Bedworth struggled for precedence. The race was won by Miss Johnson, with Winnie D. a close second. Time 2:29 1-4. Miss Johnson won the first and second heats, and Winnie D. the third. It is understood that if the present managers of the fair succeed in retaining the grounds for another year they will hold the fair at least one month earlier, so as to avoid, if possible, the disagreeable weather so prevalent at this time of the year. The Chesapeake Fair was established some twenty-five years ago, and it is said that the managers were induced to select the first Wednesday after the November clections as the day for opening the fair in order that the people of the Northern Neck might meet togother to bear the results of the elections and discuss polities. Now that telephone lines penetrate every part of this section there is no longer any reason for holding the fair in November.

Had the weather been propitious the fair just closed would have been the best in point of exhibits, racing and attendance ever held in the Northern Neck.
